Product Differentiators

We partner with a data aggregator and the direct source of our own data, acquired through self-reported sources, via micro surveys and mutual partnerships. Therefore, we're able to offer very granular targeting with intent of purchase and engagement. We work in all verticals, such as travel/tourism, automotive, education, pharma, and fast casual food.

There is a daily batch of "trigger data" for in-market intenders that have visited specific websites in search of a new purchase or services information across all verticals. This trigger data is used to verify intent to purchase and allows us to narrow in on the most recently active members that would be interested in promotions your clients are preparing to launch. This ensures delivery of your ad to a higher interactive and engaging audience. We offer more than 750 demographic and psychographic overlays to reach your client's ideal target audience.
